JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The following appointments have been gazetted:
H. Richardson, J. F. McLeod, C. B.
Rouleau, and E. L. Wetmore, of Frederickton, N. B., to be judges of the supreme court of the Northwest Territories. Stenrover Magistrate Travis has arrived here and feels confident he will be the fifth judge.
He will await the arrival of Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr.
Thompson, who are snowed out in the maritime provinces. It is said the only difficulty in Travis' case is in settling a point where he will be stationed. Sheriffs under the new law will not be appointed for a few weeks. There are a host of applications.

THAT POLAR EXPEDITION.

The Montreal Gazette has an editorial article on Mr. Macarthur's expedition to the polar sea. It concludes as follows: "Mr. Macarthur has happily served a long apprenticeship to scientific life and has had the opportunity of personal intercourse with some of the greatest explorers of our time.
A few years ago he presided at the delivery of a lecture on arctic exploration by an old and distinguished now official of the company, with which he was so many years connected, Dr. John Rae. How changed is the condition of things now in the Northwest from what it was when that intrepid explorer undertook the researches which have made him famous! The northwest passage, for centuries the wished for goal of the mercantile and scientific world, is now an accomplished fact.
The seed of civilization have been planted over those vast areas where once the Indian, the Buffalo, and the fur trader were the only denizens. Mr. Macarthur's starting point is a rising and thriving city, the capital of a progressive province, the first of a series of independent but federated commonwealths stretching from the great lakes to the Rocky Mountains, while across that mighty range another state, for which noble destinies are in store, forms the final link in the chain which constitutes the Dominion of Canada. His fellow countrymen from ocean to ocean will await with eagerness the result of Mr. Macarthur's venture and hail it, if successful, with patriotic pride."

A company has been formed at Winnipeg to build a line of railway to the international boundary, despite the disallowance policy pursued by the Dominion Government.
A letter has been received at Winnipeg from General Manager Hickson, of the Grand Trunk, saying his line would be up to the boundary by next fall—Canadian American.

Winnipeg shipped in 1886 1,654, 210 bushels of wheat, valued at $1,631,560; 104,000 bushels of oats, worth $34,200; 131,084 bushels of barley, worth $14,170; 383, 600 sacks of flour, worth $797,300, and oatmeal and other produce to the value of $82,500, thus giving a total value of export for the year of $2,965,730, or an increase over the figures of 1882 of $73,170. The increase of 175,000 bags of flour is one of them which will account for a very large proportion of this general increase, and quite a large share of this flour was the product of country mills operated by parties resident in Winnipeg. The value of mill products made in Winnipeg during the year was $8,412,319.

Healey's day is in the Register is now placed at 43. Some of the newly arrived express will be that he was in independent of the United States.

ONTARIO'S NEW GOVERNOR.

Sir Alexander Campbell, who has accepted the Lieutenant-Governor-ship of Ontario, has been a prominent figure in Canadian politics for thirty years. He started in life as the law partner of the present Canadian Premier, Sir John Macdonald, in whose office he studied, and most of the work of the firm devolved upon him, as his senior partner's time was mainly devoted to politics.
In those days the Legislative Council equivalent to the Senate of the present time, was elective, and in 1836 he was returned to it by the Ontario division. The Council was very poorly supplied with able men, and accordingly Mr. Campbell came to the front with a rush. In 1844 he was elected speaker of the Council, and in 1854, during the political crisis, when it seemed impossible for any man to form a ministry which could last for any length of time, he was asked to try his hand at Cabinet making, but he declined. He, however, accepted the office of Crown Lands Commissioner in the Tache-Macdonald Administration. He retained the same portfolio in the Coalition Ministry which held office until Confederation. He was a member of the Quebec conference which brought about the union and is therefore one of the surviving Fathers of Confederation.

Upon the formation of the N. P.
Canadian Senate he became a member of it and is the leader of the Conservatives in that body. From that time until his resignation a few days ago he held office continuously, with the exception of the period of the Mackenzie Administration, holding at various periods the portfolios of Postmaster-General and Minister of Justice. He was always regarded as possessed of good executive ability. He was nighly at Montreal in 1879. He is 60 years of age, having been born in England in 1821.

THE EARTHQUAKE.

Rome, Feb. 27.—Heartrending details of the disasters caused by the earthquake continue to arrive. At Diano-Marino, to-day, a child of 12 years and her father were extricated from the debris, when the latter expired on the spot. The survivors at Diano-Marino say that a majority of the victims were killed by the second shock, the people having re-entered their houses to procure clothing. The sum of $15,000 has been found in the ruins there. Bodies wrapped in shrouds lie in the middle of the street.
At Bassano only a church, steeply remains standing. The soldiers there are still searching the ruins. They have rescued 27 persons, all of whom are more or less injured. The panic was renewed at Genoa to-day on a report that Father Donzani had predicted another shock. Both there and at Savona, the people refuse to return to their houses. They slept in carriages and improvised places of refuge. Signor Gerardi, Minister of Public Works, has visited Bajardo and attended the funeral of 250 victims of the church collapse, who were buried in a common trench in the cemetery. He also made arrangements for the injured. Slight oscillations were felt to-day at Porto Martignano. Relief committees are being organized throughout the country, but it is impossible to supply the numerous wants. A bill will be introduced in Parliament for a credit of one million dollars for relief purposes.
Signor Donzani and Bianchi, experts, say that there need be no further fear. San Remo is deserted.
There were 300 persons killed and 150 injured in that town.

Five European Governments have applied to English firms for tenders for the supply of cartridges.

Austrian diplomats expect startling developments regarding Bulgaria on account of Russia's recent action.

Sir James Ferguson yesterday refused to make known the Canadian proposals regarding the fisheries question.

The Reception Committee have recommended a grant of $10,000 toward the celebration of the Queen's Jubilee

The British Conservative members of a conference, at which Lord Salisbury reviewed the political situation. His forecast of overseas legislation for Ireland. The conference declared in favor of the advocate in Parliament and expression in Ireland.

Rome, Feb. 24.—A shock of earthquake was experienced to-day at Montone. Houses were badly shaken, but no one was hurt. Villages built on mountain sides were toppled over into the valley by the shock. Three railway trains loaded with food have been sent to the sufferers, together with a strong detachment of soldiers to preserve order.

ASSINIBOIA EAST.

The election contest in this district is becoming more interesting as polling day approaches. It was thought at first that Mr. Perley would be the unanimous choice of the district, but from advice received from the east that the Government would be defeated on the 22nd of February, the extreme party Reformers decided to nominate a man, and brought forward Mr. J. H. Dickie, of Moose Mountain. This gentleman is undoubtedly a man after their own heart, as his views coincide with theirs; he is also a respectable, and as he says himself "an honest" man; but there his qualifications end. He has not had the least experience in Canadian politics, having resided only about four years in the Northwest, coming formerly from Scotland. His knowledge of our institutions must be very limited as the most of the time he has resided in this country, he has been shut up in an isolated locality, away from daily mails, newspapers, etc. He is therefore totally unfit to represent the district. On the other hand we have Mr. W. D. Perley, a trained politician, and one who has profited wonderfully by his training. He is a native of one of the maritime provinces, where he became deeply interested in Canadian politics, and after a time removed to the Northwest, where he has served a term in the legislative body of the territories, and has done yeoman service for the country. Mr. Perley has shown himself possessed of that true independence of spirit which ought to characterize every public man connected with moulding the destinies of these new territories of the Dominion. Although in political allegiance with the Conservative party, he has and will, when occasion requires, place country before party. Of course, he possesses the undoubted advantage of being generally in accord with the Government, but while it may be desirable to return a supporter of the Administration of the day, it is an additional and essential qualification that a representative of a Northwest constituency should place the interests of his constituents before those of party. It is on these grounds that THE PROGRESS has supported Mr. Perley's candidature from the first, and for the same reason we continue to urge his election. He has shown himself a true and capable representative in the Northwest Council, and his ability as a speaker together with his inherent persistence in the discharge of his public duties, eminently fit him to represent East Assiniboia. That he will be elected there is not the least doubt, but we would urge that he be given a big vote to show that he is supported by the great mass of the electors, which will greatly strengthen his hands in Parliament when fighting our battles. We trust therefore that those who are alive to their own interests will rally to his support, and will give him such a rousing majority as will drown the ardor of those whose first and only desire is party aggrandisement, regardless of the country's welfare.

THE ELECTIONS.

In other columns we give a corrected list of those elected to the Dominion Parliament. In the list we have classified only those independents that have promised their support to the Government, and would not on a straight vote of want of confidence vote the present administration out of power. All others have been classed with the Opposition. This is really a too liberal classification for the Blake party, because there is every reason to believe that a number of those listed with the Opposition will support the Government. In fact we learn from a private telegram that that three of the members returned from Prince Edward Island have already offered their support to Sir John Macdonald. The figures given in THE PROGRESS agree with those given by other independent papers throughout the Dominion. The Government organs claim a larger majority for the Government, and their reasons for doing so are certainly well founded. The Toronto Globe, and a few of the conscientious lesser organs, put forward the absurd claim that the Opposition is equal to or has a small majority over the Ministerial party. The object, no doubt, is to influence the elections in the Northwest and British Columbia. The contention, however, is so ridiculous that it will have the opposite of the effect intended. The real outcome of the elections when Parliament meets will be a majority of about forty for the Government, which ought to be enough to satisfy any reasonable set of men.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Regina Leader has this horrible pun: that the opposition to Mr. Perley in Eastern Assiniboia is re-Dickie-ous. Bring along a Montana blizzard to cool him off.

Reports from Saskatchewan district are favorable to the Government candidate. The indications are that Mr. Macdowall will be elected by a very large majority. Mr. Laird having found that he is leading a forlorn hope.

One of the remarkable incidents of the late political campaign was the contract entered into by Conservatives and Liberals in Kingston to secure a clean contest. One hundred responsible men on each side propose to forfeit $200 each should bribery or intimidation be proven against their party.

Now that the elections in the east are over, greater interest is being given to the elections in those districts where the polling is yet to take place. It is said that Hon. E. Blake has gone into Alberta to help the Opposition candidate there. Mr. Dawson, the Government candidate, is also receiving aid on the stump from the Ministerial party. Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior is on his way to the Northwest, and will arrive by this evening's train to look after the Conservative interests.

The conservative leaders in Ottawa feel confident they have already 29 majority. The Montreal Gazette claims 35 Conservative majority, and the Witness admits these figures. The Independent Star gives 33 majority and even the Montreal Herald admits 27. Sir Donald A. Smith, classed as an Independent, will vote with the Government.

The Mail says the outlook is not a cheerful one, but relief may come sooner than expected. That two old parties survived their usefulness, is a fact which recent campaign, with all its insane talk and unadulterated blackguardism, has brought home to many who had hitherto been loyal to one or the other of the machines. We look for relief to the awakening conscience and growing intelligence of the people who are no longer children, but men capable of higher things than the party leaders have yet given them credit for.

The following telegram has been received from Sir John A. Macdonald:—

"As statements foreign to facts are being circulated throughout the Territories the true result of the elections is about as follows: Ontario, fifty-three government, thirty-eight opposition; Quebec, thirty-eight government, twenty-nine opposition; Nova Scotia, fourteen government, seven opposition; New Brunswick, nine government, seven opposition; Prince Edward Island, six opposition; Manitoba, four government, one opposition; total government, one hundred and fifteen, opposition, eighty-eight, majority for government, twenty-seven exclusive of Gaspe and Algoma which will undoubtedly go government."

As Messrs. W. D. Perley and J. H. Ross were members of the Northwest Council previous to their nomination as Candidates for the Dominion Parliament, their seats in the Council are vacant. It remains to be seen whether His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will issue writs for new elections to fill the vacancies, or await the action of the Federal Parliament in reference to the memorial of the Council asking that the Northwest Territories be given a Local Legislature with a responsible executive. At the present time the Electoral District of Moose Jaw is without representation in the Northwest Council, but in this district of Qu'Appelle we have one representative (though entitled to two) capable of watching our interests. Having Mr. R. Crawford for our representative this district will not suffer disadvantage, but the interests of Moose Jaw will be unprotected at a time when every portion of the territories should be fully represented, when it will be necessary to have another session of the Council to close up its business.

The Free Press returns from Quebec are sadly in need of correction. Girouard, of Jacques Cartier, is given to-day as being among the fallen, whereas his majority is upwards of seven hundred. Then Hypolite Montplaisir, the gentleman with whom Archbishop Tache had communication on the Riel question, is returned as a Liberal, Sir Hector Langevin might as well be thus classified. Dupont, of Rigot, is also classed as a Liberal, despite the fact that for many days he was working in the hotel to secure the return of Mr. Desjardins, the Conservative candidate, and received the unstinted denunciations of the Montreal Herald therefore. Nor is it scarcely fair to style Sir Donald Smith as an Independent, because on all material questions he has already put himself on record with the Government, and has been opposed by a pronounced Liberal—Sun.

ELECTION NOTES.

Indian Head, Feb. 28th.—The Liberal-Conservative Association of Indian Head held a meeting on Saturday, Feb. 26th, at which the following motion was carried unanimously and much enthusiasm: Moved by Mr. W. Broley, seconded by Mr. Robert Crawford that we, the members of this association do pledge ourselves to use all lawful means to place Mr. W. D. Perley at the head of the poll on the 15th March.

Pheasant Forks, Feb. 25.—On Wednesday, 23rd inst., Messrs. Perley and Dickie, the candidates for the Dominion Parliament, addressed a very large and intelligent audience at Pheasant Forks, in the P. M. colony. The speeches by the candidates and others were listened to with the greatest attention. Mr. Perley was in excellent trim notwithstanding the strain on him occasioned by travelling and speaking every day. The audience repeatedly cheered Mr. Perley and expressed their determination to place him at the head of the poll on the 15th March. The P. M. Colony is almost unanimous for the Government and Mr. Perley.

Kinborne, N. W. T., Feb. 22.—Election matters are getting more interesting, as time rolls on and no doubt Mr. Perley will poll a large majority of the votes in this settlement. W. H. Minihinnick, P. M., has been appointed deputy returning officer, T. R. Philbin, poll clerk, and G. B. Fisher, enumerator for division No. 22.

Yorkton, N. W. T., Feb. 19.—As you get but little news from this part of the country, it may be well to let you know how we are getting on with the election. Having known Mr. Perley, I had hoped he would have had a walk-over, but I notice by The Manitoulin that he is to be opposed by a Mr. Dickie. We would like to know who this Dickie is and whence he came? Mr. Perley is well known and respected, and we are all aware of the good work he has done as a member of the Northwest Council; also at Ottawa; how he acquitted himself as a good soldier of the Northwest, on whose behalf he was sent to plead its cause. As to this settlement, it will go, with few exceptions, solid for Mr. Perley. The old warriors of the good cause from Ont. and the old country have been confirming the young men, who will for the first time have a vote, and it will go to strengthen the hands of Sir John Macdonald, who has done so much for this country. Let the other parts of East Assiniboia do as we intend to do here, plump for Perley, and by so doing send a man to Ottawa who will help to build up this great Northwest, which at no distant date will give homes to many of the rising generation.

After an election contest a good deal of whistling is usually done by the defeated party, with a view to lessening the effect of the fall. This is the case with the Toronto Globe at the present time, as it finds congenial employment in trying to extract sublimus from numbers. How can it find any possible justification for its pretension that the Reformers have carried forty-two out of the sixty-five seats in Quebec? No other opposition newspaper, talking Nationalists and Reformers together, can find more than 37 seats, while, with every desire to do justice to both sides, and giving the Conservatives but two of the professed Nationalists, The Sun is unable to show more than 32 Opposition seats, or, in effect, that they have made the province a "tie." Among the Oppositionists we have placed Mr. Counsel and one or two others whose right to be placed there is doubtful. The Montreal Witness makes 32 Liberals and 32 Conservatives and Conservative Nationalists. Grouping the two latter, as it is pretty safe to do, seeing that a Conservative government is in power, it will be seen that the Witness and Sun's figures correspond. In this estimate, we think the Opposition are given everything that can fairly be claimed; provided, of course, that we have received here all the information available.—Winnipeg Sun.

EAST YORK.

The following article was taken from the Toronto Mail and put in type before the elections, but crowded out of our previous issues:

The machine on both sides is averse to elections by acclamation. Even where a leading man cannot by any chance be defeated, the rule is to pit an opponent against him in order to keep him at home. Under a system so ungenerous, elections by acclamation are becoming more and more rare, the only men accorded the honour being colourless and uninfluential candidates in hives. On the present occasion, it would have been a becoming thing in Reformers to have allowed the Premier to be returned for Kingston without a contest. And Conservatives would not have lost, but gained in the esteem of all fair-minded men, by granting Mr. Mackenzie a walk-over in East York. They may not agree with his politics, but they ought to have shown some consideration for the long and faithful service he has rendered the country, as well as for the critical state of his health. Reformers plead that Sir John is still vigorous and that if they had not put up Mr. Gunn against him he would have gone on a stumping tour against their candidates elsewhere. For opposing Mr. Mackenzie Conservatives have not even that poor excuse. He could not have taken the stump against them, for he is unable to speak at all. We believe, however, he will be elected by a good majority. The better class of Conservatives are with him. His vote on the Riel question, and his more recent statement that he prizes country before party, have disarmed their prejudices. Moreover, although they fought against him in times past, they must find on taking a retrospect of his career that his personal honesty has never been successfully challenged, that he has served the cause of truth always according to his lights. Mr. Mackenzie's public life is nearing its close, and when it is finished Canadians will have to deplore the loss of a man of sterling integrity. We may not be able to say with Sterne, "Tread lightly on his ashes, ye men of genius," for he is your kinsman; but assuredly that higher commendation shall be his, "West his grave clean, ye men of goodness for he was your brother."

The large Conservative majority in the province of Nova Scotia must have been a considerable surprise to the members of both political parties. By common consent the Liberals, who so recently had swept the province on the Riel cry, were conceded a majority there, but the returns show that the Conservatives outnumber their opponents two to one. This result has been by some attributed to the magical presence of Sir Charles Tupper, but this is attributing too much even to the well-known persuasive power of that distinguished gentleman. That he was able in a few speeches he delivered before the contest to throw much vigor and enthusiasm into his party is probable, but he had not time to make anything like a general tour. The Conservative success is mainly due to the reaction that followed the great repeal agitation. The province was swept by that movement. Calm reflection showed that nothing had been accomplished by it, and then followed a reaction as most equally as great. No patriotic Canadian will find occasion for regret if persisted in, in the disintegration of confederation, has received a summary check.—Winnipeg Sun.

IN A DEAD MAN'S POCKET.

Stephen Allen Price was a man who was liked and looked up to by all who knew him. He was honest, kind and true, a warm friend and good neighbor. The boys and girls all liked him because he never forgot that he had been young once himself. He was never stiff and cross and heavy with them, but was their good friend. He became rich, and made money of New York City, and lived to be very old. He lost his life in a steamboat disaster. Those who found his dead body found a scrap of printed paper in his pocketbook. It was so worn with old reading that they could scarcely make out the words, but this is what was upon the paper:

Keep good company or none. Never be idle.

If your hands cannot be usefully employed, attend to the cultivation of your mind.

Always speak the truth. Make few promises.

Live up to your engagements. Keep your own secrets if you have any.

When you speak to a person look him in the face.

Good company and good conversation are the very sinews of virtue.

Good character is above all things else.

Your character cannot be essentially injured except by your own acts.

If any one speaks evil of you, let your life be so that none will believe him.

Drink no kind of intoxicating liquors.

Even live (misfortune excepted) within your income.

When you retire to bed think over what you have been doing during the day.

Make no haste to be rich if you would prosper.

Small and steady gains give competency with tranquility of mind.

Never play at any game of chance. Avoid temptation, though fear you may not withstand it.

Earn money before you spend it. Never run into debt, unless you see plainly a way to get out again.

Never borrow, if you can possibly avoid it.

Do not marry until you are able to support a wife.

Never speak evil of any one. Be just before you are generous.

Keep yourself innocent if you would be happy.

Save when you are young to spend when you are old.

Read over the above maxims at least once a week.

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT.

Germany has annexed portions of the East African coast.

The French Government is preparing a statement of the Egyptian finances for submission to the powers for comparison with the English statement.

A Peep at the Past.

In dingy, muddy, dirty Fetter lanes, that narrow, crooked thoroughfares connecting Fleet street with Holborn, stands a building wherein is stored wealth and variety of historic documents forming a collection which is probably unrivalled by that of any other country. The average Londoner knows little about the record office, and cares less, and yet the state shelves in the iron cages of the severe looking edifice are holed with state documents dating as far back as William the Conqueror. I was fortunate on Saturday last to be the companion of a gentleman who had received an invitation to accompany Sir Robert Holt, the master of the rolls and customs-rotundum, on his first official examination of the record office.

Of course, this first inspection was naturally of a cursory nature, but the polite and efficient attendants laid before Sir Robert and his party—which by the by, included several of the foreign ambassadors—document after document, and the volume, which could not but gladden the heart of those who love to peruse these records of the gone past. There was the "Doomsday Book," in which may be seen the survey of England made in the time of William the Conqueror. It is in an excellent state of preservation, and the vellum leaves are as clean, the writing as legible, and the ink as dark and distinct as though the compilation had been executed in the last century, instead of eight hundred years ago.

We were shown, too, the records of the Court of Chancery, which are full and complete from the time of King John down to the last decisions rendered by the present Lord Chancellor, and a complete series of the ledger books, showing the National expenditure from the time of Henry II. down to the present day, perfectly arranged and in excellent condition. Amongst the most interesting documents that were displayed I made a note of a treaty between Henry I. and Robert, Earl of Floures, the privileges granted by Pope Adrian to Henry II., giving him full permission to conquer Ireland, the treaties made with Robert Frues, and various other, the treaty of the Field of the Cloth of Gold, artistically illuminated with the portrait of Francis I., and bearing an impression of the seal chased by Benvenuto Cellini.

The cascades of volumes of State papers which lie on the shelves of the record office are at present being calendared and indexed by the clerks, but among other interesting historic documents that were shown was the confession of Guy Fawkes as to the details of the gunpowder plot, extorted from him by the rack, to which the poor wretch's signature, faint and nearly illegible, was written. There was also the piteous, yet withal dignified letter of Elizabeth, written to her sister from the tower, pleading for her release from durance vile, and among other letters of interest were several short notes to foreign envoys of the lady Queen, prepared in anticipation of the birth of a child, that never took place, blains being left for the date and sex. The letter of Montagu to which he gave full information beforehand of the intended gunpowder plot, and numerous epistles written by James I., Mary Queen of Scots, Catherine de Medici, Charles I. and II., and many others, from Kings and Queens who succeeded after the reformation, and from statesmen and nobles who played so great a part in the past in elevating England to the high position she occupied among the Nations of the world.

The sheepskins of the close rolls are here from the thirteenth century up to the present time, and on these are found numerous entries bearing most glances, too, at the Parliamentary rolls of the church rolls, in which are to be found particulars of all grants of privileges to the religious houses, the financial rolls, running from the time of Henry I. to the present day, in which have a complete record of the most which English Kings received in payment for licenses they granted to alien lands, for knights' services, for alms, and various other schemes and dodges by which these monarchs in the great old times were wont to replenish their exchequers.

The obituary rolls, or full of men and women who are dead, are also here, and also run consecutively from the thirteenth century up to the present day. The obituary rolls, or full of men and women who are dead, are also here, and also run consecutively from the thirteenth century up to the present day. In these are recorded a complete list of the names of all who died in the reigns of the kings, the creation of titles, the granting of safe conducts, the bestowal of annuities, and the negotiations with foreigners. We glanced, too, at the Parliamentary rolls of the church rolls, in which are to be found particulars of all grants of privileges to the religious houses, the financial rolls, running from the time of Henry I. to the present day, in which have a complete record of the most which English Kings received in payment for licenses they granted to alien lands, for knights' services, for alms, and various other schemes and dodges by which these monarchs in the great old times were wont to replenish their exchequers.

—Our genial and popular immigration agent, Mr. A. J. Baker, returned from the east on Saturday evening. His numerous friends were much pleased to welcome him back to Qu'Appelle.

—Mr. T. W. Jackson has returned from Ottawa. He is sanguine about the work on the Wood Mountain and Qu'Appelle railway being begun as early in spring as the weather will permit.

—It would seem as if there is some newspaper thief or thieves somewhere in the postal service between here and Winnipeg. During the last week or two we have not received half the Winnipeg dailies addressed to this office. We shall inquire into the matter.

—It looks as if Mr. Dickie was afraid of the contrast between himself and Mr. Perley showing to such great advantage down in the Moose Mountain district, that even his own neighbors would think he was not the right man to send to Ottawa. Else why did he not go to the meetings being held down there?

—Who has the boodle?
—Who killed the rooster?
—Whether he crowed too loud?
—Whether he was left at the right place?
—Why the Regina Journal has not accepted our rooster offer?
—Which newspaper in Regina prints "Davis" the greatest number of times?
—Where the nomination deposit of the Opposition candidate got snowed up?
—Who heard all that Mr. Dickie is reported in the Regina Journal to have said at the Qu'Appelle meeting?
—What Mr. Dickie was doing in Qu'Appelle on Saturday last, while Mr. Perley was down near his home holding meetings?

HANDSOME SEND-OFF.

Mr. J. A. McGill, immigration agent, left on yesterday morning's train for Neepawa where he will represent the same firm whose agency he had here. Mr. G. Russell, of the firm of Russell & Davis, will leave in a few days for Prince Albert where they have opened a large butchering business, and Mr. W. Davis, of the same firm, will leave shortly for the east. A large number of the friends of the three above named gentlemen met at the Queen's hotel where an oyster supper had been provided. Ample just as having been done the excellent spread, the usual toast followed. Mr. J. A. McGill presided as chairman with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of all present. After the toast of "The Queen," "The Governor General," and "The Lieutenant-Governor," "Our guests," was proposed in a eulogistic speech by the chairman. Messrs. McGill, Russell and Davis responded. "The agricultural interests" was responded to by Messrs. A. M. McLane and S. R. Edwards; "the educational interests," by Messrs. G. H. V. Bulven and S. S. Nelson; "the town of Qu'Appelle," by Messrs. THAT GAMBLING DEN.

To the Editor of THE PROGRESS.—

Dear Sir,—I would ask permission through the columns of your paper to state that within the limits of our town there has sprung into existence what might be called a Gambling Den, which is frequented both day and night by a number of our young men, the names of which I withhold at present. But unless our law guardians take immediate action to have it stopped, I shall ask you to publish a list of the names who frequent that place, and who actually take a hand in what they are pleased to call Loos or Draos. Can it be that our Police are paid to avoid this place? or why is it that a house of this kind is allowed to run all that without being disturbed? Now young men I would say, in conclusion that if this place is continued you may look out for trouble.

Yours, etc.,
AN INTERESTED CITIZEN.

HOME AFTER BUSINESS HOURS.

The rambling which the man of business travels is not a necessitated one, or does it invariably lead through pleasant scenes and by well springs of delight. On the contrary, it is a rough and rugged path, beset with "out-of-the-way" things, and full of peril, which can only be avoided by the watchful care of circumstance. After every day's journey over this wretched rough tangle road the weary man is something more than tired; he requires advice and he desires it. He is weary of the dull prosaic life and thirsts for the poetry of the imagination, who can find it in the old and the new, in the West and the East, in the home, where meetings from living home, from place to place, bright eyes, the welcome shouts of the children, the many-thumbed little arrangements for our comfort and enjoyment that silently tell of thoughtful and expectant love, the gentle ministrations that disengage us into an old and easy rest before we are aware of it; these and like tokens of affection and sympathy constitute the poetry which refreshes us to the peace of life.

Kind of this, ye wives and daughters of business men! Think of the toil, the sacrifices, the mortifications and wear that fathers undergo to secure for you comfortable homes, and then compare them for their trials by making them happy by their own fireside.

Were the United States to cut off all commercial intercourse with her neighbor it would of course compel Canada to look for other markets, and being driven, there is every reason to suppose that she would put forth extraordinary efforts to make up lost ground. As showing how our neighbor has increased certain of her exports, may be taken the trade in lumber with South America. In 1877 there was shipped from Montreal to South America 8,000,000 feet of lumber; in 1886 the export of the same produce to that country amounted 20,500,000 feet. The increase in a like period of the export of lumber to Great Britain was something immense—from 3,400,000 to 28,000,000 feet. Canada's fish, lumber, cheese, wheat, cattle and barley are of too excellent a quality to go without buyers, and Canadians are energetic and enterprising enough to look up new customers, and increase their sales to old patrons. They will not sit still and let Uncle Sam laugh. The Dominion does not live by the grace of the United States, though some Americans speak and act as if they thought so. For a few months Canada would undoubtedly suffer by the breaking off of commercial intercourse with the Republic; but at the end of six months it would be going on in the even tenor of its way—with fish for the millions.—Canadian American.

LOGAN'S DEATH.

Best Harts never did a better piece of work than the following from the pen of Jim Carlin, of the editorial staff of the El Paso Inter Republic:

LOGAN'S DEATH.

"What? Logan dead? Oh, how! Taint so! Black Jack pranged out? Say, pard, go slow! You can't fool me with ye crooked news. For you see I was one of Logan's boys—I was one of the Fifteenth Corps, an' pard, though yer given it to me an' right an' hard, an' I look on ye as a friend, an' I can't see ye place a straight as ye row that lies, an' that an' no bit of a lunkin' laugh hid back of your face, such foolish stuff! We've take a long long day an' know the General too darned well to s'pose that death could easily dense the gim O' such a tough old soldier as him. A money street as a workin' out, an' a constabulary that stood the kinks O' four years' war, and came out as tough as a tickler, won't take no bluff. An' I don't think I can see from here I don't could see folks as me an' you, Oh, no! Such a story as that, you see, won't go with ye, such a case as me. We've made a long day, more an' more, an' the very year that ye row that lies, an' the blood an' smoke, an' infernal roar, an' the awful groans, an' the awful roar, an' the whistling balls, an' the screaming shells, an' the doubled barrell'd hell, I've seen the General eddy and cool. With a quiet face the mountain peak, ye right out the hell, an' every breath O' the smoke choked air seemed to whisper death. With a quiet face the mountain peak, ye right out the hell, an' every breath O' the smoke choked air seemed to whisper death.
